C. OF C. ADOPTS NEW BY-LAWS

The club creates a committee of general conference "clerking" committee to hear suggestions of members in connection with the work of the organization and to bring those which are investigated and found feasible and desirable before the board of directors, the membership, or another standing committee.

SUGGEST CHANGES

In the remaining clauses the committee suggested in charge of the method of nominating directors to be elected from a ballot prepared by a nominating committee in each district or the national membership.

Electing the committee suggested would come at an annual membership meeting.

The board's suggestion, which, after debate, was adopted by more than 4 to 1 on a standing vote, was that names of all members of the organization be printed on the official ballot each member privileged to vote for it. The election will be held at the Chamber of Commerce offices, and the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on election day.

NEW YEAR'S BUDGET

The first meeting of the members to quickly agree on the budget was held last night and the books opened for the more important work of the organization's 1929-30 annual budget and income from the local. President Gifford pointed to a column which the results of the year's budget, offered for the expenditure of members of the organization. Importance of providing the funds for next year before the end of this in order that the new board would find necessary funds to hand over to the new year's work was emphasized.

The principal work of the organization, he pointed out, is the arranging of facilities here equal or exceeding in some respects that offered by other ports in order that a greater and greater volume of business should be directed here. He touched on some matters, and hinted at others, causing consternation of the directors, whose members the members were urged to attend, which are of prime importance to this work. Many of these projects have been held from the beginning public to be said, in order that other ports might not know what is being done here until they can be thoroughly lined out and ready for attack to begin.

In expressing his own feelings on the importance of work to be pushed, the speaker declared that his interest in the matter comes from the desire to work things up to the point that his successor in office will find a clean deck and nothing to hinder pushing and completion of the work.

NAME PT. ARTHUR SOUTH TERMINUS

The Transoceanic canal division will link the Saline district directly with northern Great Lakes ports via Port Newark, N. J.

CONNECTS WITH GREAT LAKES

The lake rates from Port Newark are differentially lower than the all-rates," Frank Potts, manager of the traffic bureau, declared today, naming Great Lakes cities as ports of call to include Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Superior, Duluth, and east of the Mississippi, Minneapolis and St. Paul and all points west.

All of the vessels owned and operated by the corporation, two of which will be operated in the Milwaukee service between Port Newark and Port Arthur for the present, and further demands are made by Great Lakes demands are met, rated rated to Lloyd's 100 Ad. All oil burners are said to be extra-economically designed for the service.

IMMENSE FACILITIES

The Port Newark terminals of the corporation is declared to be of immense size, modern facilities, comprising piers, piersides, modern labor saving machinery and its own rail line connecting the docks with practically all rail lines running to New York, which may be controlled by a third man to run.

A full organization throughout the country will be placed soon to keep in touch with traffic movement throughout the territory and gain his for the railroads, from points now shipping to other Gulf ports or not at all.

The Port Arthur organization, which will comprise eastern terminal headquarters, will be announced in a few days. It was a contractor said to be Port Newark leading and unloading facilities, causing mill to ship leading service with labor saving devices, part of a projected storage space, fireproof, double warehouse.

That the addition of the new line will give Port Arthur bigger and better service than ever before and is means for increasing business, the terminus was declared by local shipping men today.

Good Evening Folks!

A cultured man is one who has a lot of information that isn't worth anything to him.

Some of the big guns were silenced on that November 11, but others at once began work on their memoirs.

Even regret has its compensations. The greater your remorse next morning, the better ice water tastes.

In the old days, greatness was a matter of being in the front rank; now it is a matter of being on the front page.

Walking is cheaper, of course, but it's worth the difference to be in the taxi-cab instead of under it.

FIGHTING FOR GOOD ROADS

New Jersey is certainly a progressive state. There will be an important election on November 24. A feature of the election in New Jersey will be the action of the voters on the $25,000,000 bond issue for road construction and maintenance during the next five years.

If the bill should fail of a majority of votes, its advocates say that the ultimate result will naturally mean practically a five year holiday in highway development. This referendum amendment is sponsored by the New Jersey League and the Federation of Agricultural Societies.

With the growth of motor transportation, the farmers of New Jersey are said to be heartily in favor of a highway building program which will in a short time put all of the main trunk lines in a suitable condition for the needs of modern motor traffic.

Leaders of New Jersey farmers know the value of good roads. They say good roads are a most valuable benefit alike to the dweller in the cities and in the rural districts; that they add immeasurably to the commercial and rural welfare of any community; that they make the dwellers in the cities to visit the rural districts and they also enable the farmers to bring their produce into the city markets and get a fair price for their goods.

Moreover they realize the value of federal aid. Should they vote a $40,000,000 bond issue, this will call for federal aid approximately $40,000,000 which in the near future would give to the state of New Jersey the finest system of highways to be found in any state of the American union.

All the motor organizations of New Jersey are lined up behind the road bond proposition and the farmers and motorists go down in fear that there must be something rotten in political conditions in that state.

Texas road builders have plenty of work cut out for them. They know the value of good roads. They know the value of federal aid, they also realize that a new constitution will be necessary to rid the state of some of its antiquated road laws.

One of the largest cotton goods bleachers in the south will be erected in South Carolina by New England cotton mill interests. New England capitalists and capital are invading the Carolinas and Georgia. They have read the and writing on the wall. They know that the chapter is to be transferred from New England to the cotton manufacturing states of the south. And why not Texas?

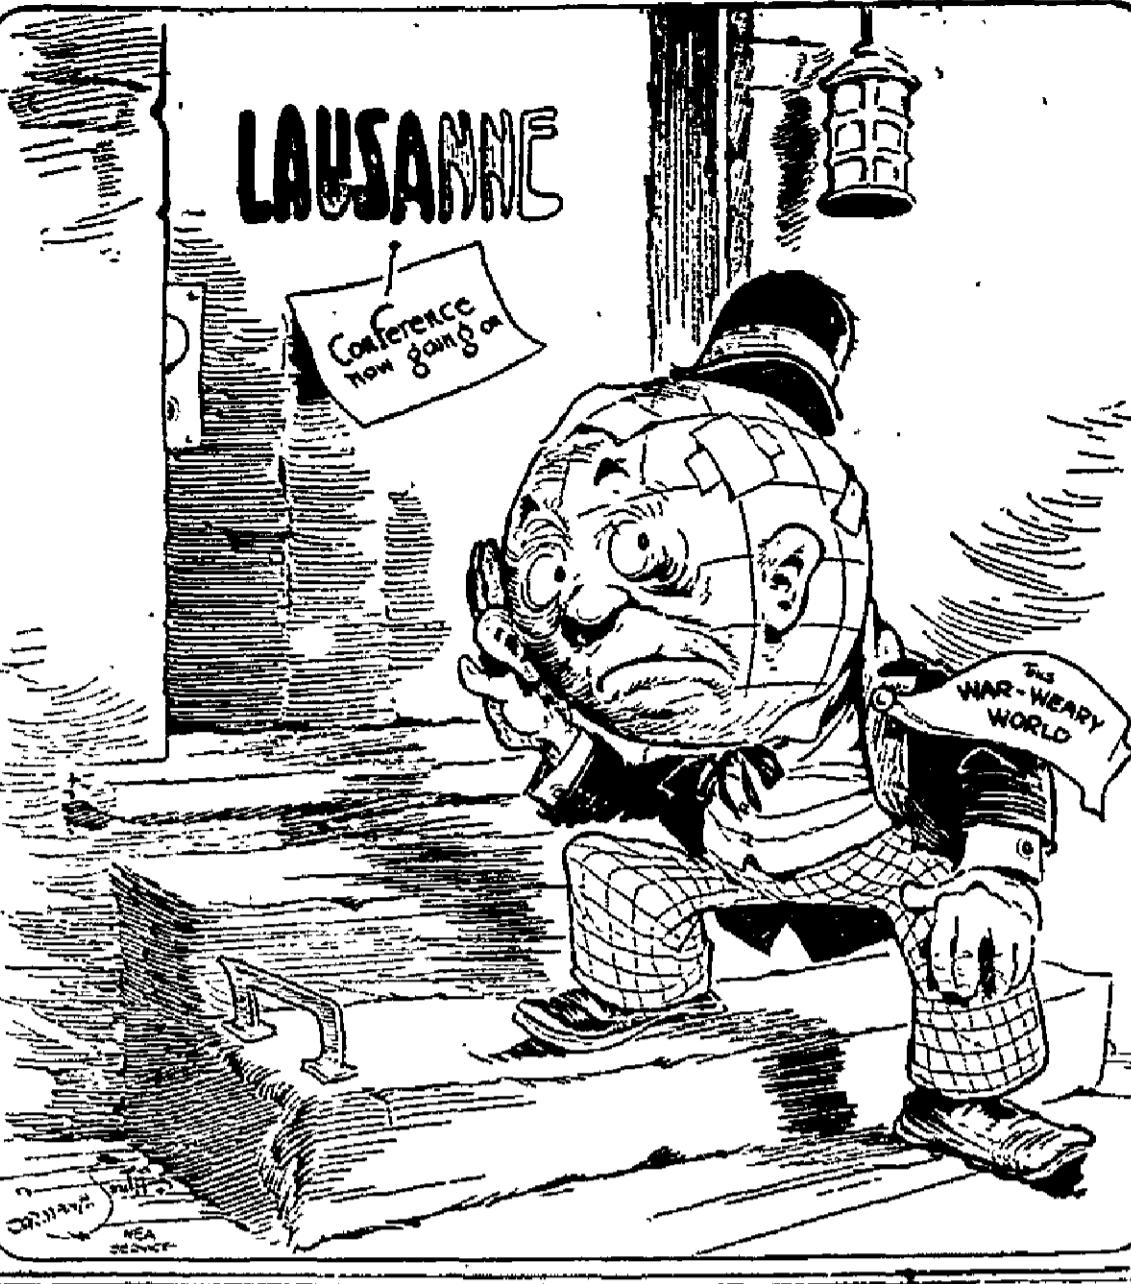

C-O-M-M-E-N-T

Organized labor leaders and labor organizations in the city of New York have decided to establish a co-operative bank in that city, with original resources of two million dollars. It will be known as the Federation Trust Company, dividends to stockholders will be limited to ten per cent and the remainder of the profits go to the directors. Stock will be sold for $200 a share and it is planned to place it in the hands of the largest number of persons possible but preference will be given to members of trade unions. Assistance will be rendered to the trade unions, their members will be rendered the trade unions, their members and their friends in many ways, such as the formation of credit unions and the fostering and promotion of cooperative movements among the wage earners. Peter J. Bratt, head of the new organization, says there are over 700,000 trade unionists in New York to whom this banking institution will render services by making investigation and giving information to debtors and their friends about investments of any kind. May millions of dollars have been lost by the trade unionists of New York in bad investments and in false notions of one kind or another. Labor banks have already been established in many parts of the United States and the bank of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, started less than two years ago with a capital and surplus of one million one hundred thousand dollars and now has resources of over seventeen million dollars. Walter M. McDonald who put over the bank of Cleveland has been offered the presidency and general management of the proposed New York City Co-operative Labor Bank. Should this bank be successful similar institutions will be started in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany, Binghamton and many other cities in the state of New York. This will introduce New York labor leaders in a new role but they have wisely decided to place a successful banker at the head of their concern.

A special resolution giving the ship subsidy bill right of way was put through the house by a vote of 260 to 110. Three democrats voted for the resolution and sixteen republicans voted against it. Is the ship subsidy on its way? Republican leaders say it will pass the house with 25 votes to spare.

Representative Johnson, republican, of South Dakota, is an opponent of the ship subsidy bill. He has made the prediction that no party could survive in America that refused to give a bonus to soldiers and then give a bonus to ships. Why should he worry? A bonus is on the way. It is certain to be put over by the new congress. If President Harding vetoes then both houses of the new congress will override his veto.

Why Marriage Was Unhappy

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Had the married life of JOHN BARRETT and his wife, ANITA, really headed the breaking point? He thought that he could bear the unbearable mounting no longer and announced that now, after 10 years of marriage, he was going to leave wife and children and seek happiness with MYRA DEAN, brilliant journalist and woman of the world. But Myra reminds him that she has responsibilities and that she does not care to share as co-respondent in a divorce case. Barrett leaves her apartment determined to think out the situation.

GO ON WITH THE STORY...

As Barrett came out of Myra's little house a chill wind from the river swept over him with sobering touch. Suddenly, he seemed to see himself standing at the brink of deep waters with only a willow or two his only and known him from planting.

Responsibility. Myra had said.

Habits, relentless world! That's what Myra's whole life was—responsibilities. Who cared about him? An in turn the reason he made as a matter of course. She hardly knew he was an architect or a lawyer. All she cared about was her literary society, her Political Equality League, her Bridge club, her concert and entertainment entertainments, her perfect clothes, her modesty, her whole life!

Correct this sentence: "The plates were not hot, sir," said the waiter, "and this tip is too large."

MISSOURI POLICE JAIL TEXAS CONFIDENCE MAN

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 24.—M. Clark of Dallas, Texas, is in jail here charged with operating a confidence game. Authorities say Clark made a practice of buying jewelry and laying it to debtors to his home where he took payment. They say Clark then departed without reimbursing the latter.

DOG BITING CHILD HAS EVIDENCE RABIES

PEABODY, Texas, Nov. 25.—The body of a dog killed and buried Sunday, after it had bitten a child here, was disinterred today, and its head shipped to Austin for examination for rabies. Up until this afternoon city health authorities had not received a report as to whether or not the dog was afflicted with rabies.

"Anita," he began, "I'm going to tell you what I'm going to do and talk things over a bit." He qualified at her hard face but kept it firmly on. "We ought to—what did you really have each other twenty years ago—say to each other while married and then—"

The least curl of her lip—slightly curled "Marx," but in back, the not dimpled and worn out. The wrinkles like a dog, and I've made good. But when I fall short of anything, how you stay me! I have big faults. God knows but even the greatest irritates you makes you forget years of doing my best—greatest lesson on the rug—the stamping of a door—Oh, my God, Anita, it's married hell."
